

Clarice Cliff Court Student Accommodation

Stoke-on-Trent

Status:

Completed 2001

Value:

£4.8 million

Client:

Staffordshire University

Description:

Named after world famous art deco designer Clarice Cliff, the new halls of residence will provide much needed additional accommodation to cater for increasing number of students studying at the Stoke-on-Trent campus.

The halls of residence are divided into seven houses, comprising a total of 297 no. en-suite rooms with communal kitchen and ancillary facilities.

The building incorporates elements of Clarice Cliff's colourful and bold designs and the seven houses have been named after prominent female 'potteries' based designers, continuing the University's close association with the ceramic industry.
