

'INFOBOX' Architectural Design Competition

Liverpool

The competition was run by Urban Splash developers in collaboration with The Architects Journal magazine and required ideas for the design of a sales office for the 'TRIBECA' development in Liverpool.

The 'INFOBOX' has been designed as an inner vibrant form, housing exhibition/meeting space, with an outer, perforated mesh, envelope. The envelope mutes the green inner form during the day but becomes almost invisible when lit at night, revealing, more obviously, a green 'beacon'.

The plan is simple, thus allowing easy navigation. The user enters into a triple height void and circulates upwards through exhibition space to a second floor viewing terrace.
